

DANNY MC LAUGHLIN 2nd February 1934 - 20th March 2015

It was with great sadness and deep regret that we learned of the death of our dear friend and long serving Director Danny Mc Laughlin. On behalf of the Chairman, Board of Directors, Management and Staff of Fort Dunree we offer our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his wife Dympna and family ,son David, daughters Nicky ,Alison, and Edel, and to his brother and our fellow Director Dermot as well as the entire family connection.

Over the years Danny has been a tower of strength and inspiration for the growth and prosperity of Fort Dunree, which he held very close to his heart for its heritage and natural beauty. We will miss you not only for your great knowledge and understanding but for your delightful character and manner, we will treasure your memory in perpetuity. May you Rest in Peace our Forever Friend.

New Signage at Fort Dunree

We have recently installed 15 new outside signs detailing artefacts in the grounds at Fort Dunree. Great credit must go to Richard Tedstone who carefully and diligently put together and designed the information boards, they will greatly enhance the visitor experience at Fort Dunree.

Fort Dunree on our Tv Screens

Fort Dunree has recently featured on two TV programs which have been broadcast. Firstly we appeared on Ireland and the Great War which was shown on BBC1 in February, the program featured our work on Remembrance and our Peace Wall. John McCarter was interviewed by Frank Galligan for an edition of Donegal Matters on Irish Tv, you can catch up on this piece here: <http://www.irishtv.ie/donegal-matters-37>.

Fort Dunree features in Wedding Magazine!

Fort Dunree have recently held numerous weddings on site and this is now giving us national exposure as Laura and Danny's wedding last year featured in renowned bridal website Rocknrollbride.com, to see this click on: <http://www.rocknrollbride.com/2015/01/colourful-punk-rockabilly-and-1960s-wedding-in-ireland>.

Aurora Borealis at Fort Dunree

Fort Dunree is fast becoming THE place from which to see the amazing Aurora Borealis. This image was taken by Derry Photo's on St. Patrick's Day, we think it's fantastic , i'm sure you'll agree.

Adam Porter also sent us the following footage from the same night:

New Lifeboat passes Fort Dunree for the first time

There was great excitement in Buncrana on 10th April for the arrival of the new RNLI Shannon Class life boat " Derek Bullivant". We captured the boat making it's maiden voyage in Lough Swilly, passing Fort Dunree for the first time.
